That's right—give MAX and RAV[™] a try before you decide to buy.

No matter where your conference participants are seated, conversations are natural and effortless with MAX conferencing phones and RAV[™] conferencing systems. You can expect incredible clarity and user-friendly controls; everyone can sit back, relax and interact.

MAX EX — a single unit conference phone, perfect for executive offices and small conference rooms. It can be linked with as many as three additional MAX phones for use in larger conference rooms with the MAX EX Expansion Kit.

MAXAttach[™] — truly a "one size fits all" conferencing solution. It comes with two phones, for greater coverage in larger conference rooms, and can also be expanded up to four linked phones using the MAX EX Expansion Kit. Additionally, the two phones can be used in separate rooms with the purchase of an extra power supply base unit.

MAX Wireless — the industry's first wireless conference phone. It offers the audio quality of MAX EX without power or telephone lines, turning any room into a conference room. It comes with a single wireless conference phone that can be used anywhere within 150 feet of the base unit.

MAXAttach[™] Wireless — another industry first in conferencing technology. MAXAttach Wireless comes with two wireless phones that connect to a single base unit, providing expanded coverage in medium-sized rooms.

RAV[™] 600 and 900 — includes an audio mixer with an integrated telephone interface and amplifier, two Bose[®] ceiling- or wall-mount speakers (or no speakers), a wireless or wired control unit, RAV-Ware[™] software, and RAV microphone pods (two with the RAV 600 and three with the RAV 900) comprised of three microphones each. The system also includes Ethernet control for remote management and configuration capabilities.
